INPROCAP

Building innovation procurement capabilities in Big Science

The INPROCAP project aims to develop and implement a sustainable advisory platform. It will integrate innovation procurement knowledge into the roles of Industry Liaison Officers (ILOs) within the Big Science ecosystem.

The initiative seeks to engage start-ups and small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) across Europe in Big Science innovation procurement processes.

In this way, it will establish innovation procurement as a standard practice.

Engaging start-ups and SMEs

- Consortia Formation
  Supporting 10 small consortia to co-design technological solutions for Big Science Organisations (BSOs).
- Geographical Diversity
  Involving companies from at least 8 different European countries.
- Outreach and Promotion
  Targeted campaigns, workshops, webinars, and networking events.
- Collaboration
  Partnering with 10 start-up environments and 10 industry supply chains

Empowering ILOs

- Best practices and guidelines for 40 ILOs.
- Integrating innovation procurement advice into ILO-forum meetings at 5 BSOs
- Encouraging development via workshops, seminars, and conferences

Standardizing Innovation Procurement

- Instruction Manuals
  Developing 3 manuals for BSO /ILO /companies.
- Capacity Building
  Training 30 BSO staff members.
- Implementation
  Supporting 5 BSOs in adopting innovation procurement practices.

INPROCAP creates a platform to drive innovation procurement within the BigScience ecosystem and engage European start ups and SMEs
